SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR

Bay St. Louis, Miss., Friday, December 4, 1953

THE FIRST—William Ellis of Bay St. Louis was the first donor to the new Hancock County Blood Bank. He is shown here being tested by Miss Edna Isom.

Henry J Tangles With Truck, Loses

A small Henry J car tried to push a truck off the highway here last week, but the driver ended up in jail with at least three charges lodged against him.

The Henry J was driven by Sibly Amison who had two passengers in the car, including the owner of the vehicle, George Qualls, according to Sheriff Deputy Sam Peterson.

The incident occurred at Trucktown on Highway 90, Peterson said. Amison began to back into a truck driven by an unidentified Negro. The colored man tried to back out of the way, and even went off the highway.

Finally the Henry J stopped chasing the truck and the two drivers emerged from their vehicles.

No agreement was reached on damages, Peterson said, but Amison got in his Henry J and drove off.

Peterson, called to the scene, phoned the toll station to halt Amison. The toll station attendant halted the car and called the highway patrol 15 minutes after Peterson was called on the case.

Peterson covered with deputy John Kachler.

In the car with Amison and Qualls was another passenger Ezekiel Rainey.

The charge, preferred by both the sheriff's office and the highway patrol were driving without a license and wreckless driving. The incident occurred at about 7 p. m.

Haas Picked Up In Gulfport

A retainer is being held by the sheriff's office for Wilbur J. Haas who is wanted here for non-support, Sheriff John Egloff said today.

Haas, who has been wanted here for non-appearance in court and for failing to support a minor child, was picked up in Gulfport when he got into an automobile accident.

Egloff said he has been after Haas since July 6 when he received a court order to pick him up. Egloff said Haas faces a penalty of three months on the county farm in Harrison County if he does not make good on his alimony payments and pay his fines.

Egloff said he was "waiting any minute" to pick up Haas from the Gulfport jail. It was previously thought he was in New Orleans.

MRS. BERMOND WINS $200 ON "NAME THAT TUNE" PROGRAM

Mrs. Rene Bermond, Jr., of Bay St. Louis won $200 on the "Name That Tune" television program. She sent in a list of seven songs they were selected and so she was put in a position where she could have won $1,000.

It all depended upon how many of her songs the studio audience contestant named.

As it was, she named four as Mrs. Bermond sat glued to her TV set. Was she mad at the contestant for not winning more? "Gosh, no," she blurted. "I was thrilled to win what I did. I almost had to have the doctor to revive me as it was."

The program was on at 7 p. m. Monday. Many Hancock County residents also were tuned in.

Mrs. Bermond has been working at Maufrey's Drygoods Store, and was on duty the morning after the contest almost as though nothing had happened.

Farrell Named Legion Adjutant Kidd Wins Pants

B. F. Farrell was named Adjutant for the local American Legion Post at its regular meeting last Tuesday to fill the vacancy left by Earl Gates who had moved to Florida.

During the meeting Dr. L. A. Nelson served as adjutant.

The Legion decided to combine efforts with the Knights of Columbus in holding a "Turkey Shoot" Dec. 13 at Seaford's Service Station after learning that the proceeds of this year's shoot fell below that of last year.

It was also announced that the local post was awarded a merchandise prize of $20 by the state office for exceeding its membership of last year.

Kidd informed the group that the rise in membership would win him a pair of pants at the Legion convention next year.

Kidd informed the group that pants from the Commander of the Pascagoula post who failed to raise his membership to that of Bay St. Louis.

The Legion voted to pay for 3000 circulars and 10000 cards for the Hancock County Blood Bank as well as a filing case for the blood records.

The Legion also arranged a Child Safety Program by naming a seven-man committee, headed by G. V. Price, Sr. Others named were Morgan C. Atwood, Charles Carter, Jr., Leroy Luke, Les Moran, Frank Taconi and William P. Kenny.

A civilian defense committee was named at the meeting also, Lucien Kidd will serve as chairman with Warren Buehler, Harold Krankey and G. V. Price, Sr.

Survivors include nieces and nephews of the fourth generation.

Car Demolished, Man Injured In Kiln Wreck

One man received two fractured ribs and head injuries last Sunday when a car overturned on the Poplarville Highway, two miles above Kiln.

Injured was Vernon Haas, 30, of Bay St. Louis. Haas was a passenger in a car driven by Sam Haas, Jr., 28, cousin to Vernon, uninjured in the wreck.

According to Constable Nolan Kingston, who covered the accident, the pair were driving to a shooting match when the car skidded in the loose gravel and overturned.

The automobile, a 1952 Buick, was completely demolished.

Vernon Haas was driven to the Kings Daughters Hospital by Lansley Glass of Kiln who came out to view the accident. Glass was escorted by Kingston to Bay St. Louis.

Monday Vernon Haas was removed to the Veterans Hospital in Biloxi for further treatment.

Rene deMontluzin Celebrates 88th Year

Eighty-eight years were celebrated by Rene deMontluzin Sr. here last Wednesday amid telegrams, phone calls and personal visits offering congratulations.

Mr. deMontluzin, who is in fine shape, is still active either in deMontluzin's Drug Store or outside his home on North Beach.

He began work in his father's drug store here when he was thirteen. This year marks his 75th of serving the people of Bay St. Louis.

Helping him celebrate his birthday were his wife, Mrs. Rene deMontluzin Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Rene deMontluzin, Jr.

Under the trusty system, you get paid for killing. If you shoot a fellow inmate who is "trying to escape," you're almost sure to get out of Parchman.

But here's one case which shows how low the stool-pigeon system

One Injured In Wreck On Kiln Road

Richard Cameron of Picaune received head and neck lacerations in an early morning accident on the Kiln road last Sunday.

Constable Marvin Bobbinger covered the accident which occurred at about 2 a. m. Cameron was driving with Walter Simmons when he swerved his vehicle to avoid colliding with another car.

He swerved into a ditch, hit a stump and turned over. Simmons was unhurt.

The accident occurred near the house of Jack Lott. Cameron was heading toward Fenton.

Cameron was rushed to Gulfport Memorial Hospital by Fahey ambulance because of a heavy loss of blood. He is reported to be improving.

Stool Pigeons Run Parchman Penitentiary

(This is the second in a series of articles by DWILLIAM DOLAN of Bay St. Louis on Parchman.)

By WILLIAM DOLAN

Parchman has a social system all its own, and it makes the stool-pigeon a king.

It's a vicious and degrading system. But they fix it so the only way you can "rise" is over the whipped bodies of your fellow inmates. If you protest against unfair treatment, you're immediately stamped as a "malcontent" and your life is one of continuous misery.

It's bad enough when an "ambitious" inmate has to squeal on the little wrongs of his fellow inmates. But it gets worse when he runs out of tattle-tale information. Then has to make it up. And an innocent man is stripped naked and beaten brutally as a result.

The people who run Parchman don't care who becomes a stool-pigeon. They have promoted murderers to the rank of trusty and given them shotguns.

Under the administration of that sergeant known as Doughbelly Webb, I never knew my five years—when a man was excused from punishment after a trusty turned him in.

Often you took the punishment without knowing why. I was known as a trouble-maker. That's because I talked with the legislature's investigating committee came in and asked questions about conditions at Parchman. I told the truth. As soon as they caught me, I was beaten.

Then I was confined to my bed. They don't even have solitary confinement places at Parchman. They simply tell you to stay at your bed and not to talk to a soul.

Many times this happened to me. And a soon as a buddy walked by and "accidentally" dropped a cigarette on my bed for me, the stool pigeons were on him, too. And he was spread on the floor and lashed with the heavy leather strap.

Under the trusty system, you get paid for killing. If you shoot a fellow inmate who is "trying to escape," you're almost sure to get out of Parchman.

But here's one case which shows how low the stool-pigeon system

CONTEST WINNER—Mrs. Rene Bermond checks her list of seven tunes which won her $200 on the "Name That Tune" television program this week.

SANTA CLAUS TO BE IN BAY SATURDAY AT 2 P. M. IN KERN'S STORE

Hey kids! Santa Claus is coming to town! Santa, red suit, and all, plans to be here Saturday for at least two hours while he tours the Gulf Coast and meets all the kids.

Santa told Mrs. Joseph Kern that he will stop at her store after taking a short drive around the town.

He'll arrive at the head of the bridge at 2 p. m. and from there will be escorted through the town, towards Kern's 5 & 10.

Mrs. Kern said he will give away favors to the kids and hopes to meet every one of them.

Santa visits here every year and always goes to Kern's store.

can drag a man:

One fellow made arrangements to smuggle in a gun for an escape. Another fellow got wind of it and got the gun. Then he planted it, but filed off the firing pin.

He then proceeds to report to the superintendent that the gun is stacked away. The poor fellow who was "caught" with the gun didn't even know it was in the camp.

Now when prisoners lead a life like this, you can imagine how they'll act when they finish their terms and are set free. True, except for a few innocent men, they are there in the first place for committing a crime.

But what about reforming a man? Do you do this by teaching him that squealing and lying are the ways to success. These surely are the ways to success at Parchman.

Mind you, these stool pigeons don't only tattle on rule infractions. They want to keep you in terror at Parchman. So if you comment on the lack of heat in the cage or the poor food, that is enough for a beating.

Mom Happy About Return Of Sgt. Necaise

Sgt. Leroy Necaise returned home from 18 months' duty in Korea, and his mom's "real happy" about his return.

Leroy arrived home Monday night after flying from the West Coast to Arkansas. He has been in the Army almost 6 years.

It was a tossup, Mrs. Necaise Sr. said, as to who was happiest—his wife or his two year old daughter.

Leroy is married to the former Jeannell Price of Alabama. His daughter, Nell Elizabeth, will be two in January.

Mrs. Necaise said Leroy didn't like Korea too well. There was no place to go and the men were always stationed away from anything.

The men even had to set up their own Post Exchange.

Leroy is not discouraged about Army life, however. He will report back to duty on Dec. 30 in Arkansas. He will try to be re-stationed at Ft. Benning.

The drive to the way here last week was of Bay St. Louis first to be typed in donor system.

The Hancock County Daughters Hospital, with Edna Isom and Ruthford as secretary and assistant.

Mrs. Carol Pfeiffer was a woman to have her blood for the blood typing system. Pfeiffer barely met the requirements of 140 pounds.

One more organization he nine others which are the Blood Bank. The Holy Name Society.

Other groups are the Church of Commerce, the Knights of Columbus, The City of Bay St. Louis, The F. & A. M., the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary.

The Blood Bank group that no cost would be in getting blood typing funds, including that donated by the Board of St. Stanislaus would be used to cover all expenses.

The present plan calls for master list of potential blood donors arranged according to types.

When an emergency arises someone needed blood, a number of people who registered with the blood bank would be called on to have the type required.

Doctors said that valuable blood would be saved two ways. No haphazard appeals for blood would have to be issued.

Secondly, no time would be wasted finding people who were the proper type.

Moreover it was pointed out that the patient happened to be a blood donor list, time would be saved in obtaining the blood.

The Blood Bank group reported that no blood was being typed or at present. All that was wanted was a list of people who would donate blood in an emergency.

It is necessary for these people to be typed now.

Typing will be done at hospital on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The lines will be 10 a. m. to 12 on Mondays and Fridays and 12 to 2 p. m. on Wednesdays.

A technician will always be available at the Kings Daughters hospital at these hours.

Persons holding cards showing their blood types who want to be placed on the blood donor list are asked to get in touch with George Heitzmann at the Courthouse. These persons need not be typed.

Arthur Miller

Back From Hospital

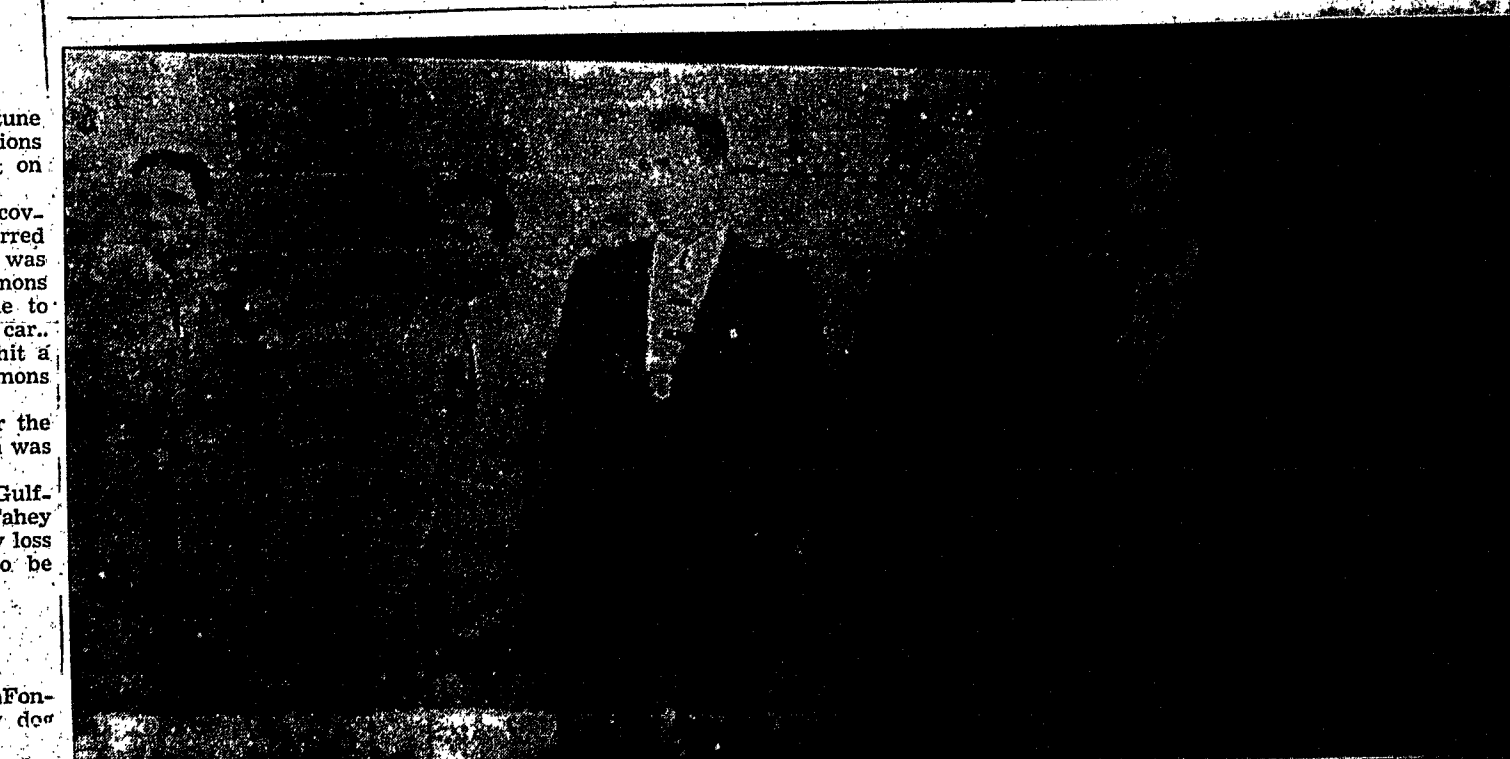

Arthur Miller, Coast Electric Power Association employee who was stricken with severe hemorrhages two months ago, has returned from the hospital this week.

Arthur is now regaining strength as his home on Highway 90. He was staying in Memorial Hospital in Gulfport.

His condition is reported to be much improved.

For those that stopped he had free gum and plenty of advice about being good since it was near to Christmas.

Santa said he was afraid it was going to be warm down here, but the east wind kept him comfortable in his fur lined white suit.

QUARTET OF HOSTESSES—Co-hostesses sip at their tea for 200 local ladies this week. Left to right are Mrs. Kenneth Whitfield, Mrs. T. A. Quigley, Mrs. B. L. Ramsey and Mrs. Norman Renshaw.

200 Attend Local Tea

The home of Mrs. Norman Renshaw on Second Street was one of holiday festivity this week, when a group of four Bay St. Louis ladies entertained at tea on Tuesday.

Mrs. Renshaw, Mrs. B. L. Ramsey, Mrs. Ken Whitfield and Mrs. T. A. Quigley were hostesses to about 200 invited guests.

The reception rooms were decorated throughout with large arrangements of yellow and white fall flowers, chrysanthemums and gladioli predominating.

In the dining room where friends of the hostesses presided over silver tea services, yellow tapers were used on linen outwork cloths of white centered with the yellow and white flowers motif.

Mrs. Renshaw wore for the occasion a black crepe tea gown which featured at the neckline an intricate pattern of rhinestone clips. Mrs. Ramsey chose a brown changeable taffeta suit for the occasion and Mrs. Whitfield wore black with collar and cuffs of a pale blue beaded material.

Mrs. Quigley's costume was in navy organza, accented with a white nylon pleated panel. The hostesses chose carnations for their corsages, Mrs. Quigley's and Mrs. Renshaw's being made of white blooms; Mrs. Ramsey's of yellow and Mrs. Whitfield's of blue.

Those who assisted throughout the afternoon at the tea services were Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. Rene deMontluzin, Jr., Mrs. Geo. Lehleiner, Mrs. John Griffin, Mrs. John McDonald, Mrs. H. Shattuck, Mrs. T. T. Robin, Mrs. Lewis Wagner, Miss Kathleen Renshaw, Mrs. Horace Kergosien and Mrs. Dick Shadoin.

Kitchen Shower For Miss Dick

The home of Mrs. Carl Craft, decorated in the traditional bridal colors, was the scene of a kitchen shower for bride-elect Noelle Dick on the evening of Nov. 18.

About 25 guests were invited to the festive event. These presented beautifully wrapped packages to the bride-to-be, who wore one of her trousseau gowns, a brick-colored taffeta with black accessories. Her corsage, presented by the hostess, was of American beauty roses. The bride's mother, Mrs. N. Dick, was given a corsage of orchid chrysanthemums and the grandmother one of gladioli.

Mrs. Craft's gift room featured a table covered with lace and centered with a figurine group on a mirror.

The refreshment table was covered with an Irish lace cloth. It held a silver service and a centerpiece of green and white carnations and frosted greens, designed to give a lacy effect to the arrangement.

Surprise Party for Patsy Shadoin

Patsy Shadoin was honoree at a surprise party given by her friends on November 30.

The occasion was Patsy's 16th birthday. Guests were nine of her schoolmates, who were invited to dinner.

Mrs. Shadoin presented each of the guests with a corsage of wine colored flowers tied with pink ribbon. The birthday cake carried out the pink theme, being decorated with rosebuds.

Those present were Pam Crasto, Doodie Seafide, Gaydell Cue, Pockey Poolson, Jeannette Monti, Dorothy Larroux, Diane Seuzeneau, Kinta Kergosien and Mug Blanchard.

Buyers' Mart

As usual, it's upon us before we know—the Christmas season, and the humming going on around the toy counters is the surest sign possible.

At Sunshine's, Mrs. Gleim too is on a short tour to see what's new in the toy department this year.

"The first question everybody asks is 'How much is the horse in the window?'," she laughs. "Well, it's a love and it's $29.95 and is a horse for the child from five to about six years of age."

We took a look and took a picture (note picture page) of this crowd enticer and it does look like 'un for some happy young cowboy. The horse "gallops" along on a spring arrangement set in its own stand and is a pretty realistic acting animal.

Otherwise for boys, Sunshine's has a new machine gun which shoots wit or without caps. It's a metal and plastic toy—"completely harmless," says Mrs. Gleim. It sells for five dollars.

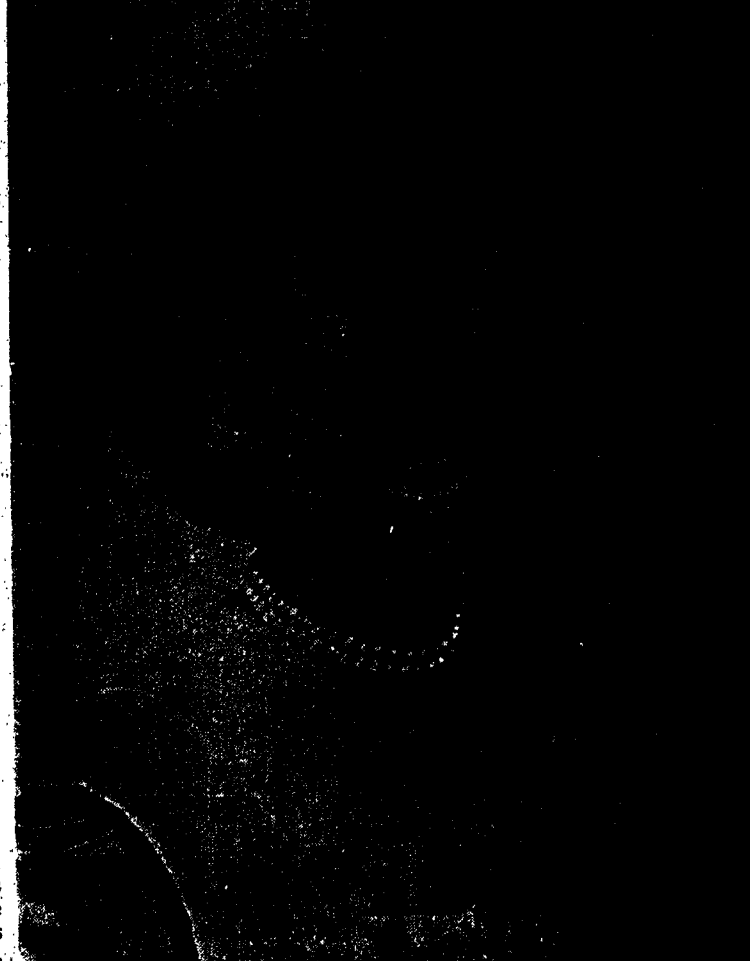

And there is a new kit called Play Dentist, which is a dentist's outfit, complete from tooth paste and filling material to dentures and spectacles for hte doc himself. This toy is designed with the idea of creating an interest in dentistry in the child, to the point where his visits with the real dentist hold no fears.

For little girls (that is, if their mamas can get by the big doll in the window) there is a bake set selling from $2.95 to $4.95, all brand new and complete for the youngest lady of the house. There is a pie crust mix and a rolling pin and a linen cloth, pie and cake pans and all the other equipment to make pies and cakes.

Also for girls, there is a house-keeper toy. This $4.95 item contains a large supply of cleaning equipment, among which is a sampling of cleaning soaps and powders, a small broom and dust pan.

Mrs. Gleim says one of her fastest selling toys is a small old-fashioned iron stove for little pretend cooks. These, after the small daughter has outgrown them, can be used effectively as planters.

They come in several sizes, ranging from $1.98 to $3.95.

The pet of the doll department this year at Sunshine's is the Du-barry makeup doll, which costs from $11.95 to $19.95 depending on size.

This doll has her face and hands made of a particularly lifelike material which can be made up with a variety of cosmetics contained in a kit which comes with the doll.

Mrs. Gleim has a new supply of small toy musical instrument, including a zellophone, a saxophone, clarinet and trombone. These cost from $1.10 to $6.85.

Frances Garcia

Is Engaged To

E. J. Saucier

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Garcia of Waveland announce this week the engagement of their daughter, Frances, to Elwin Joseph Saucier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Saucier of Pineville.

The wedding is scheduled to take place December 16 at Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

The bride's gown was of white tulle with a combination of white and pink ribbon. The groom's suit was of white tulle with a combination of white and pink ribbon. The bride's veil was of white tulle with a combination of white and pink ribbon. The groom's tie was of white tulle with a combination of white and pink ribbon.

Evelyn Ladner, sister of bride, was maid of honor. Her dress was of green tulle and made with a combination of white and pink ribbon. The bridesmaids, Mrs. H. Schmidt of New Orleans, Ruth Dowdy of Logansport, and Mary Beth Winters of New Orleans were given in color. The bridesmaids' dresses were of white tulle with a combination of white and pink ribbon. The bridesmaids' veils were of white tulle with a combination of white and pink ribbon.

For the ceremony, the bride wore a navy corsage and a pink tulle veil. She wore an orchid corsage. The groom wore a brown tulle suit. The bridesmaids wore a brown tulle dress. The bridesmaids' accessories and a light blue tulle. She, too, wore an orchid corsage.

Counting Our Blessings

The American people had so much for which to be grateful on Thanksgiving. As they counted their blessings they were thankful for many other favors than an abundant harvest.

From the time our Pilgrim fathers wrung economic security from the wilderness and wrote the cardinal virtues of honesty, industry and frugality into the American character, thrift has been the financial foundation upon which we have built the prosperity of the Republic.

It should be gratifying to all of us to know that, despite the spendthrifts, personal savings will reach an all-time high in 1953. The American people who saved only $1.7 billion in 1930, saved $11.8 billion in 1951, saved $14.4 billion in 1952 and will have saved $16.9 billion in 1953.

Savings in its many forms, which include savings and loan shares, personal holdings in the form of insurance cash reserves, Government and private security holdings, as well as time deposits and drawing accounts in banks, now exceed $500 billion. This is an amount in personal liquid assets equal to almost twice as much as our national debt.

In money and bank deposits alone, individuals are saving an estimated $5 billion in 1953, pushing the national total in this form of savings to nearly $150 billion.

These cold statistics should warm the hearts of a people who are so often accused of waste. The national urge to put something by for that uncertain future is an indication that thrift still lives in the character of the people.

Thrift is so essential to the prosperity of the individual, so necessary to the strength of banks, to the security of the community and the sound economy of the Republic that it is our watchword.

And in keeping with our established policy to encourage economy, we again invite you to join our Christmas Savings Club, and to use the facilities of this bank more freely.

We Thrive On Thrift

Jessie Delmas Weds J. N. Haas In Pascagoula

The beautiful nuptial Mass, at Our Lady of Victories Church in Pascagoula, was held Saturday, celebrating the marriage of Miss Jessie Kathleen Delmas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Delmas of Pascagoula to James Norton Haas, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Haas of Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. P. J. Carey officiated. The ceremony took place before the central altar, which was adorned with white gladioli and cypripediums. Pastoral baskets of these flanked the altar, together with cathedral candelabra and palms. White and yellow chrysanthemums were used at the side altars, and white ribbon was used to distinguish pews used by the families of the couple and other designated guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white, chantilly lace over satin, fashioned along lines of another era. It featured an extreme bouffant skirt, fitted bodice and a shawl lace collar. The same lace was repeated in gauntlets trimming the long sleeves. A fingertip veil of illusion was held in place with clusters of orange blossoms.

Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of french carnations, centered with a pink orchid. Diamond and pearl-ear clips, the gift of the bridegroom, were the bride's only jewelry. Miss Mary Jane Welmas attended her sister as maid of honor. Her gown was of brown taffeta with a molded bodice and bouffant skirt.

Flea Vie With Flies Here Sunday

The 37th Annual Flea and Fly game will be run-off come Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. at the Saint Stanislaus Stadium.

Last year the Flies humbled the Fleas 39 to 0. This year the flies are determined to turn the tables and even better the score.

Each team is composed of three squads, carrying approximately sixteen men to the team, and each squad will get a turn during the game to show their wares.

Directing the squads are Brothers, David, Cyril, Neil, Bosco, Jude and Rian. They are very ably helped out by members of the varsity team among whom are A. J. Burke, Billy Scarborough, Maurice Artigues, Woody Santa Cruz and several others.

All funds derived from the game go to help along the Brother Peter Memorial Christmas Basket Fund. Last year almost two hundred and fifty baskets were distributed throughout Bay St. Louis and Hancock County.

The honors of Captain and Co. Captain go to the boys selling the highest number of tickets to the game.

CARD OF THANKS
Thanks to the Valena C. Jones Methodist Church, the Valena C. Jones School and the first Baptist Church for making our Thanksgiving day a happy one. Mr. and Mrs. Hosea Gayward.

Bay High Opens Cage Season Tonight

Bay High, lacking height and experience, meets Pass Christian tonight at Pass Christian in the season's cage opener for the Tigers.

Coach Benny Ray Nobles said his probable starting lineup will be Charles Moran at center, Donald Cole and Charles Tartavouille at the forwards and Tommy Holden and Leroy Blackmon at the guards. "Charlie Moran barely reaches 6 feet," Nobles moaned, "and the rest of my crew will never see it."

has three men over 6 feet?" Nobles said he will try to emphasize the fast break in order to make up for his team's lack of height. But he feels the team lacks reserves and experience to match some of the team's on his schedule.

"We have plenty of boys out," Nobles said, "but few of them have any experience and none of them have any height."

Practice session for Bay High began Monday.

Pass Christian has won two and lost one in its season's play this year.

KILN GIRLS LOSE

Kiln's girls lost a close game to St. Joseph's, 39-40 in basketball at Kiln last week.

Kiln Keeps Winning, Beats St. Joe

Royce Shiyon held Kiln to its fourteenth straight win in basketball as the Wildcats took the measure of St. Joseph's of Pass Christian 48-52 in basketball Tuesday.

Kiln played Industrial tonight at Industrial.

Shipou scored 32 points against St. Joseph's which has met defeat at the hands of the Wildcats three times.

Kiln figures to go through its season without a loss, Coach L. C. Ladner says Long Beach and Pass High will be his two toughest contests this year.

Kiln plays Pass next week and Long Beach the week after.

Dec. 17-19 Kiln will play host to six others teams in its annual invitational tournament. Dedeaux, Bay High, Stanislaus, St. Joseph's of the Pass, Kiln and Savannah are the teams entered so far.

A. G. Dantagnan and Herndon Coate were on a hunting trip in Alabama this past week.

The pair went for wild turkeys and Dantagnan was the luckier of the two, getting the one turkey of the day.

Dan Russell, Jr. and Homer Gregory made a good quail hunt in Alabama recently. Dan said they had some hunting and got their share of the famous birds.

It was good news when word was received that John Ellis, Sr., his son, John, and Robert Adams of Pass Christian were found by the Coast Guard after being over due from a fishing trip to the Louisiana marshes last week. Engine trouble in their boat was the cause—they returned home none the worse for their experience.

Lucien Favre of Gulfport and Teddy Favre, of Bay St. Louis, report a wonderful catch of green trout up Jordan river Thanksgiving day. Lucien said he has caught lots of green trout on other occasions but there were above the average. They were using live bait.

H. Bounds of Gulfport and his friend "Tex" were trolling up Jordan River for speckles Sunday. They didn't do so much however. The water was not so good. Too much rain. Try it again, boys.

Percy Stern and his party made a fishing and hunting party in the marshes, last week. They were about 125 miles from home.

The water in the rivers and bayous hereabouts is turbid due to local rains of late. They are cleaning fast and will be good over the weekend. Several good catches of fish have been reported from Malatto Bayou and Pearl River of late.

Good catches of green trout have been reported in the ponds around Clermont Harbor. One group reported catching 30 last Saturday evening.

B. D. Hogue has just returned from Pensacola, Fla., where he
